OBITUARY

Emma Agusta Cary, born near Marietta, Ohio, on October 17, 1855, departed this life at the home of her son at Akron, Ohio, June 9, 1936, at 9:40 p. m. at the age of 81 years 6 months and 17 days.

She was united in marriage November 18, 1877, to William Little, who preceded her in death January 23, 1931, at West Union, Morrow County, Ohio.

After their marriage they resided on a farm about 1/2 mile south of Marion, Ohio, later moving to another farm near West Point. There were three children, born to the union: Fred L., who died a infant; Frank W., who died a infant; and William C., who died June 1, 1932.

September 2, 1911, she was united in marriage to William Lloyd, who died June 1, 1932.

She was a kind and loving mother, always appreciative, my little hand was shown her always willing to lend a helping hand to those in need. Our loss is but her gain and there remains to mourn two sons, William C., of Akron, Ohio, and Frank W., of Little, Ohio, and one grandchild, Fred L., and one little, one great-niece, nephews, relatives and a host of friends. She is gone but not forgotten.

Sunset and evening stars,
And our dear call to me And may there be no morning of the hour When I put out to sea.

Funeral services were held at the home of her son, 295 N. Main, court Marion, Ohio, Wednesday, 2 p. m. conducted by Rev. Mr. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor Trinity Episcopal church. Interment was made in the Marion cemetery.

Counted out on the proposition and that the quasi announcement in London was the direct result of the favorable response that quickly went winging back to London. Only a few days ago President Hoover allowed to be known that he would not visit California during the summer as generally expected, but would stay here throughout the hot months. Today's London dispatches throw an interesting light on the change in the president's plans.

While the whole field of Anglo-American relations would be benefited in such a meeting between the heads of the two governments, the primary object of MacDonald's visit as understood here, would be to arrive at a mutual understanding. Such an understanding is probably the greatest goal of the Hoover foreign policy and in the British election just held MacDonald made it clear that Anglo-American naval accord would be the keystone of his foreign policy.

The cabinet posed for a "black and white" Premier MacDonald introduction during each member in a few words.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1877. Now he is placed on the market the laxative prescription is still used in the practice known to druggists and the public since 1890 as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headache, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other infirmities that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action and free from narcotics. In proper dose given in the directions it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Do give it a trial to prove how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours.—Ad.

Ritzzy Rosalie

EVEN necklaces are being but fanned nowadays. It seems and Rosalie is quite pleased with her new choker which is named The Drape. It is composed of blue and yellow beads and is arranged with a goldfish button and loop and long tassels. This is not the only style in which this type of adornment may be obtained and two others which rather appealed to Rosalie were the Carnival and The Gypsy Twist. The first is a necklace of red and yellow beads offset by large beads with gilt accents at either end. The other combines wooden beads in various bright color combinations and is of the choker type.

"B.O." made people avoid him

—now he knows the easy way to keep perspiration odorless

IT was hot. And Dan had been rushing all day. But that's no excuse for 'B.O.' In the middle of dictation his stenographer interrupted—to open the window.

It annoyed Dan then. But later he suspected her reason. Today Dan's a business success. A social favorite. He knows now that perspiration need never offend.

Hotter days ahead—beware! More perspiration—more danger of 'B.O.'—Body Odor!

And don't be fooled! We can't tell when we offend because we become insensate to ever present odors. But our several million pores constantly give off odor causing waste—as much as a quart a day. To avoid embarrassment—bathe with Lifebuoy always. Mild antiseptic, its deodorizing latter prevents 'B.O.'—even removes cigarette odors from the fingers.

Keeps skins fresh and clear too. Guards health—by removing germs. Lifebuoy's pleasant, clean scent, which vanishes as you finish, tells you it purifies. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

Daily Proverb—"To know the law and do the right are two things."

The story goes that Henry Ford had to borrow two cents with which to buy an Edison stamp. We can not imagine any better way in which Mr. Ford could have advertised the fact that he never carries any money about with him.

An Indianapolis high school boy killed himself because he could not graduate this year. When all is said, it's not so much the graduation which counts as the benefits secured in the years of schooling leading up to it.

One hundred and fifty of the last group of ringleaders of the Sicilian Mafia, recently convicted and sentenced, have been committed to the island prisons and Sicily is said to be settling down to a life of production and peace. Wonder if Mr. Mussolini would be willing to loan Prefect Mori, who wiped out the Mafia, to this country for a time?

Congressman Mammoth Fish, Jr., of New York, has introduced a bill making transportation of machine guns and automatic rifles from one state to another punishable by five years in jail, or a fine of $5,000, or both. If that bill becomes a law the rum-runners may be forced to transport such weapons with their liquor supplies, instead of getting them by express and through the walls as at present.

Sir Esme Howard certainly alerted something. Now the Chilean legation has stopped serving liquor to guests. If the thing continues, where are the liquor stores, instead of getting them by express and through the walls as at present.

One night last week, prohibition law enforcement officers made eleven arrests in Brie, Pennsylvania, took possession of two liquor plants and a brewery and seized $200, 000 worth of liquor, and the same night other enforcement officers seized a tug off Cleveland with $35,000 worth of liquor aboard.
Let's be fair, dry enforcement activities aren't limited solely to shooting up pleasure boats and killing people.

Facial Italy is demanding that the $900 estate of an Italian, who entered New York illegally thirty years ago and died recently intestate and without heirs, be turned over to the Italian government. Let us say this for Mr. Mussolini, he isn't overlooking any bets, however small or improbable of collection they may be.

Long Employment Ended.

The life of Edward Duffee, who died shortly before midnight Saturday, was notable locally from his long business service, the span of which was perhaps the longest in the history of the city. Up to a year or two ago, he was the active as well as the designated head of one of our oldest and strongest financial institutions. It is the exceptional man who lives a score of years beyond man's allotment three score years and ten. It is the rarely exceptional man who remains active in business at that age.

Mr. Duffee's life may be taken as another example of the efficacy of employment as an aid to longevity; as another demonstration of the beneficial effect of work. Although his work was not such as to raise the sweat upon the brow, it was work, just the same; a form of work which often proves more tiring than that which brings the sweat to the brow.

The city is indebted in some considerable part to this incident for the beautiful church edifice on South Main street. It was largely to his efforts and in part by means of his contributions that the Trinity Baptist church was built, and it will stand as a monument to the effort and means he put into it to all who know the circumstances of its building.

The new secret plane by which Great Britain plans to win the Schneider cup is capable of such terrific speed that one of the civilian pilots, who unthinkingly moved his hand slightly above the radius of the cockpit during a test last week, had his glove torn off and two of his fingers split open to the bone. If planes like that are to be produced, think what's going to happen when one gets caught in an air traffic jam!

Another Altitude Record.

Lieutenant Soucek's airplane altitude record of 33,140 feet, made May 8, was broken by Neubronner, of Germany, May 26, who reached an altitude of 42,123 feet, but Soucek, using the same plane by which he made his altitude record and to which he attached pontoons, came back with another flight in which he attained a height of 38,360 feet last week, and thus holds the altitude record for seaplanes. Which may be taken as another illustration of the old one to the effect that you can't keep a good man down.

To Make Motoring Safer.

Announcement comes from Columbus that the state bureau of motor vehicles will inaugurate an intensive two-week, day-and-night campaign, June 15, looking to the elimination of the dangers and the correction of the abuses which result from "inefficient and illegal automobile lighting and equally careless and illegal automobile identification." State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Chambers H. Wilson plans to have the inspectors of the bureau marshal the law-enforcement forces of the entire state whose insistence it will be that every automobile and motor truck show two headlights, properly placed, directed and focused, and two license plates, so unobstructed and maintained that they may be easily read.

Under the plan of the state commissioner, busy market towns, county seats and crossroads communities as well as the various highways will be visited and revisited by inspectors, and he looks to the cooperation of all citizens who would have motoring made safer, as well as to mayors, chiefs of police, marshals and policemen in population centers and to sheriffs and others engaged in law enforcement in counties. In the coming campaign to stem the increasing tide of law violation in the matters of lighting and marking motor vehicles.

The campaign is not designed primarily as a penalizing one. It is planned to be one of education and correction, where unwilling offenders are found, not flagrant and persistent violators, he lets it be understood, will experience the full weight of the Ohio traffic laws. "Those who cover their license plates with bumpers or other obstructions or seek to calm the waters of motor violation by pouring oil on their license numbers that dust may collect," the announcement reads, "will be the first to feel the iron hand in the velvet glove of the bureau inspectors."

The state bureau is authority for the statement that the improper lighting of motor vehicles is annually responsible for the unnecessary loss of hundreds of lives and for a properly damage amounting to many millions of dollars. We do not know the source from which it gets the figures upon which to base this statement, but we take it that the statement would not have been made were it without foundation of fact.

Accepting it at its face value, it can hardly do other than bring home to motorists the inhumanity which they do themselves as well as their fellow-motorists by failing to light their vehicles properly. When observance of the law in this regard works for the safety of themselves as well as of others, it is hard to understand how motorists neglect to show respect for the traffic regulations in this regard. Certainly there can be little question that our lives are precious to the most of us. Why then should there be failure on the part of any to neglect the safeguards which go to insure that which is held precious? One would naturally think that every motorist would see to it that he was utilizing every safeguard possible to escape the fates which annually come to thousands as a result of motor accidents.

New York is soon to have a fifty-three-story commercial hotel. Considering the well-recognized impulse of many people to plunge from high elevations, the undertaking business in New York should soon begin to flourish even more than it has in the past.

France plans to build a $1,000,000 emba-sy in Washington in the style of an eighteenth century chateau. France may not pay back what she borrowed from us, but she is willing to spend a portion of it to beautify our capital, which, as a voluntary offering on her part, is going some for France.

Two manufacturing jewelers of New York City have been convicted of stealing a fake hold-up to cover the theft of $75,000 worth of diamonds delivered to them on approval.
It's the old story again. Crookedness doesn't pay.

The son of Abdul Hamid, late sultan of Turkey, has sued the British government and the Turkish National Oil Development company for $50,000,000 for the confiscation of vast properties in Mesopotamia and elsewhere belonging to his father. That's a princely sum, all right, even though he may never collect a cent of it.

So indifferent is the handwriting of the students of Northwestern university that the plan of holding written examinations has been abandoned, the deciphering of examination papers having been found to be a task no corps of instructors should be asked to assume. Isn't it just feasible that the common schools may not be giving enough attention to the encouraging of proficiency in this one of the three R's?

Six dry agents are under arrest in San Francisco and three more are being sought for locating places raided by them. To make the matter worse, the six arrested claim that they had an understanding that it was all right with their chief field agent for them to take sacks of sugar and other supplies seized home with them. The Wickham commissioner wasn't appointed any too soon.

Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, the renowned cancer specialist of Johns Hopkins university, told a Toronto gathering that beautiful women rarely contract cancer. If the beauty parlor people overlook a bet like that, they don't know their business.

George C. Coote, member of the Canadian parliament from Alberta province, told that body last week that Canada's huge liquor trade with the United States is a "dirty, low-down, nefarious business, condoned if not actually conducted by the government," and two members from Saskatchewan province agreed with him. It would hardly have been controversial for an American to have said as much, but since the statement has been made it may not be unseemly to agree with the Alberta member.

Right Living Brings Dividends.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Have you thought about the high cost of being sick? We know about the high cost of living. We know about the high cost of dying. But in many ways there are few things more distressing than the high cost of illness.

It is amazing what percentage of the population is spending its time in the sick bed. The hospitals of a great city, for instance of New York, are crowded all the time.

It is not only physical sickness with which we have to deal. More hospital beds in the United States are occupied by mental cases than by all other sick combined.

I have observed with great interest that a memorial is being planned to the late Dr. Thomas William Salmon, who was distinguished in the field of mental hygiene. As part of the campaign it is being pointed out how prevalent the mental diseases really are. Every clinic and hospital devoted to the diseases of the brain and nervous system are crowded with sufferers.

Of course we hear of more sickness in the cities.
But where there is a household in the whole of North America where there is not sickness almost every week? Illness is the cause of great economic distress. It saps the savings of many a family.

A national committee on cost of medical care has been organized. The New York City department of health has undertaken to collect "data from about 400 New York families who can supply a month-by-month record of all illnesses among their members," giving all expenses for physicians' fees, prescriptions, household remedies, drugstore supplies, hospital expenses and the like.

We do not need an official report to realize what a burden sickness is. Not alone does it take a lot of money, but also the disturbance of the routine of the home and the anxiety of heart and mind can not be disregarded.

I have no doubt that as a result of his research the facts will be brought home more vividly than ever before. I pray that ways and means can be found to deal with the immediate problems of sickness.

But after all it comes back to this, does it not?
The most sensible plan that can be devised is to impress on every single individual the importance of health. The rules of right living and simple hygiene are, in the last analysis, the surest remedy. When we can get every person in the civilized world to live so wisely that he will avoid the causes of preventable disease, then much of the economic distress will disappear.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES
"IN DOUBT." Q.—How can I grow taller? I am fifteen years old, and four feet eleven inches tall.

A.—You have five years more in which to grow.

M. G. Q.—How can I lose weight?

A.—Weight reduction is chiefly a matter of self-control as regards the diet.

J. A. B. Q.—I have recently had an operation for the removal of tonsils and adenoids and since then my hair has been coming out by the handfuls—is this due to the ether? What remedy is advisable in this case?

A.—This is not unusual—the state of the health has a most decided bearing on the condition of both hair and scalp. Keep up the health and in addition to careful shampooing use a good, stimulating hair tonic.

MRS. C. Q.—What do you advise for a tired feeling and I have an uneasy feeling under the right short rib, whole right side is sore?

A.—See your doctor for an examination. Copyright, 1920, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Editorial Opinion.

SNORBS WITHOUT SNOBBERY.

Professor Rogers has now carefully explained his advice to young men of Technology that they train themselves to be snobs. He would have them become snobs divested of all snobbery. They are to cultivate self-respect, but equally are they to show respect for the rights and the human feelings of others. This is a dual feat which no fool of past history has ever accomplished, or tried to accomplish. But Professor Rogers' snob of the future should be able to compass it, because he is to be a snob in an altogether new sense of the word. He is bound to remember the superior advantages of training given him in college, and he is to turn these to superior account in the development of "trained, organized, fastidious, discriminating leadership," yet he is to do this without arrogance, without self-conceit, in short, without snobbery. He is to court nobility, but never to forget, as snobs always used to forget, that noblesse oblige.

This is precisely what we took Professor Rogers to mean in our editorial defense of his speech published on Monday. It was impossible that a man of his ability as a teacher, and of his true manliness in conduct toward others, could have any other ultimate meaning. Yet we confess that we greatly prefer the terms in which he has now expressed himself. Gone are the phrases which served to remind one, even though unintentionally, of the code of that "great devotee of the Gospel of Getting on" preached in "Mrs. Warren's Profession." Gone is the emphasis upon teller-passable enough in the informal surroundings within which the original speech was delivered—but necessarily out of balance when reported in print in the newspapers. In their stead, is a larger and clearer statement of much value and true point for these times.

It may be, as Schenck said, and as Professor Rogers again intimated last night, that "nobility is a virtue all men, one practice; and yet everybody is content to hear." We are inclined to believe, however, that this declaration shows a trace of exalted exaggeration. The world could never have had any of its best leaders—in recent times such men as President Eliot and James Bryce—were it not true that some individuals have known how to be completely great, without self-vaunting.
It remains true that "Knowledge is proud he has learned so much; wisdom is humble that he knows no more."—Boston Transcript, June 9.

NO LICENSE FOR SPEEDING.

Decision of the Ohio supreme court rendering imperative speed laws of municipalities which do not conform to the state law is not to be interpreted as a license for motorists to run wild.
At the same time it guarantees to them their right to operate autos in safety at a higher speed than permitted in some city ordinances.

The present state law provides that autos may be operated in cities at fifteen miles an hour in congested districts, twenty-five miles in residential districts and thirty-five miles outside of corporate limits. After July 21 this limit will be increased to twenty-five, thirty-five and forty-five miles under the Boudin law.

While the court holds that drivers exceeding these speeds are not actually guilty of violating the law it holds that motorists must at all times have due regard for "traffic conditions, width of road and the general rules and use of the highways."

Auto drivers who exceed the speeds specified by state law must be prepared to accept the burden of proof that they were not operating their machines in a reckless manner, but were taking into consideration all traffic conditions and observing all rules of the road. But the fact that they exceeded the speed limit is not absolute evidence of guilt.

The decision will remove much of the annoyance incident to village speed traps and permit the auto driver a greater peace of mind while touring.
At the same time it is no panacea for the disease of "heavy foot on accelerator."

It means: "With clear roads and no traffic, step along and don't clear the highway; in heavy traffic get in line and stay there, conforming to the general speed in that particular locality."

To this you will have no trouble with the traffic cops.—Columbus Citizen.

Dandelions Except This Far.

Prohibition authorities announce they will investigate to see what becomes of all the grapes grown in California, but, as we understand it, you can still grow all the dandelions you want to and no questions asked.—Macon Telegraph.

Anal Protected at Last.

For many years we have longed to afflict humanity in a big way by going into the horseradish business, and we believe now is a good time to start. Horse-radish has been taken off the tariff free list.—Kansas City Star.

And seeing the multitudes, Jesus went up into a mountain: and when He was sat, His disciples came unto Him: And He opened His mouth, and taught them.—Matthew 23: 2 Prayer.—Lord, in Thy life the law appears, drawn out in living characters.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, June 10.—Diary of a modern Peppys: Lay late after scribbling until near dawn and breakfasted in bed, but the sheets got so full of toast crumbs decided I was not born to leisure and up. The city shimmering in heat and went to the roof to work, but assailed by a cloud of gnats.

Walked about the town, meeting Russell Patterson, the limner, and his fair lady and called on John Bowman at his hotel, and he is the best fellow I know. And in the park a policeman cawled at a fellow with two loose dogs, saying: "That's what's the matter with them squirrels!"—which somehow amused me.

In the late afternoon to drive to Pelham to see Roy and Peg Howard and Will Hays, Kees Cooper, Mary Renaults and others there and we all remained for buffet dinner. So home late in the moonshine and the Westchester countryside very enchanting. To bed.

A delirium along the Westchester roadside is an apple dipped in a sticky syrup and impaled on a stick. It is a favorite with hungry motorists. Roadside stands near New York do a brisk business during the short season—one near New Rochelle clearing $10,000 profits last summer.

The passing of the matinee idol in New York has been so gradual few noticed the eclipse. With the exception perhaps of Alfred Lunt, there is no matinee idol type on the boards, and he falls short of the idolizing idea because he is happily married to Lynn Fontaine.

The real reason for the slump in idolatry, however, is the fact the romantic girl who once worshipped from afar is no longer interested in that sort of remoteness. When some handsome chap makes her heart pit-a-pat she employs the Northwest Mounted idea —and gets her man!

The copy dropped Kerchief, the perfumed mash note and the demure casting of sheep eyes are as out of fashion as the puff sleeve and sailor hat. Such pulse pumps as Jack Barrymore, Leo Heitrichstein and others create only a yawn. There are too many handsome boys of the same mould crowd at hand.
On the dance floors of any smart supper club are the identical types with marcelled hair, collar ad profile, swank dinner coat and brilliantly "lifted" chatter. The ladies merely give them the eye to come to their table.
Such intimate flirtations take the edge off long-distance juggling with stage and screen heroets.

The revival of two of Don Boucicault's plays of fifty years ago with hissing villains and pale trembling heroines created an amusing abbreviation of his name among the newer generation. He was called B. So few, save the old timers, could give him the real pronunciation of "Deon Boocicauk."

Broadway's actor millionaires are rated as follows: David Warfield, $10,000,000; Eddie Cantor, $5,000,000; Al Johnson, $3,000,000; Solomon M. Cohen, $3,000,000; and E. H.
Gibson, $2,000,000. And if it turns out to be only stage money it merely makes a sucker of me for the Eddie, the sucker records—1,011th time.

The New York mayor's auto license plate number is W. J. The car often stands near the entrance of the City hall, and it is surprising how many pedestrians peer at the license and indulge another variant of collecting useless information by jolling down the number in a note book.

Homer Guck, the Chicago publisher, has a glittering blessing and a carpet-kissing bow for the pants pressers union. On a hurried trip to New York he sent his trousers to a tailor and they were not only returned with a sick crease, but in a pocket was a new ten-dollar bill. As somebody or other said to Bill Tilden: "That's service!"

One of the cafe diversissements for young lovers is to order artichokes and play the petal-plucking pastime of "She loves me, she loves me not." As artichokes are listed around a dollar each on most menus, we cling to older Scotch love-making customs with fruit.

In our day the young beauty flicked up a red apple on his coat sleeve, knocked at his lady love's door, coughed off key and presented it to her. And as a result was generally asked to remain for dinner with the folks. — Copyright, 1920, by the McNaught

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

If we were more proficient in the art of "letting alone" we might be happier and help others be happier. It seems to be a dogged and persistent human tendency to nag and to irritate and to open situations that have once been closed. When two persons are closely associated the knack of knowing what topics to avoid reveals a high degree of legitimate diplomacy. As one grows older one learns that but a few things matter. Why fret or bother about the great host of things that do not matter?

Men—or politicians—who go around with clips on their shoulders waiting to be attacked are small boys who never grow up.
Office-holders and office-seekers who are so sensitive they can hear a pin drop into a soft hat at fifty yards succeed in making themselves ridiculous. Men who jump when nobody hits them and sub on the shoulders of their henchmen when somebody crooks a finger at them are merely absurd.

Don't be mistaken by the office runner who says he is going to be a candidate because of the demand of his friends. Don't be fooled by the chap who says he runs only in response to public demand. The public isn't that way. The public doesn't demand that anybody run for anything—and doesn't much care. Nobody is so good, so indispensable, that the people rise up and call him from afar.

Most of us would admire a man more if he came out in the open, quite honestly, and announced that he was a candidate for office because he felt that he couldn't be happy until he got that office. Most of us would admire a candidate who would say: "I want that job because I need the salary and I think I would like the work—if any—and I like to be pointed out as the Honorable So-and-So when I walk into a restaurant or go to a ball game."

Now, there's a platform a man might run on, normally and honestly.

T. Z. Koo, one of the ablest of Chinese leaders and a foreign secretary of the Y. M.
C. A. is in this country. He brings encouraging word from the great eastern republic. China no longer is cut up with two governments. It has a nationalist government and men of education and ability in its cabinet. There are rebels, to be sure.
Revolution is usually brewing, but actually the best minds are becoming concentrated on the job of making a stable republic.
Once give China a good government and with her marvelous resources and the great industrious character of her people a great nation will march into the forefront of the world's affairs.

Schools and Ignorance.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

Dr. O'Shea, the superintendent of schools in New York City, recently pointed out some of their shortcomings, and also indicated what he regarded as essentials in their teaching. Correct speaking and writing of the English language led his list. Then he came upon the necessity of being able to perform fundamental arithmetical operations, and of knowing about such things as "interest, tax, profit, insurance and methods of investment." Literature, history and understanding of national, state and city government and duties were mentioned next. He then went on to name two other topics, viz. "Knowledge of the basic facts of geography and of the great geographical forces which influence the life of man," and "Knowledge of the basic facts of physiology and hygiene and of the simple rules for healthful living."

There he stopped. It was all excellent so far—but it was not finished, and I was sorry to see him stop. He should have added at least one other topic, of the very first importance; astronomy—a knowledge of the fundamental facts about the sun, the moon and the stars, and of their relations to our life on the earth.

The popular ignorance of this subject is credible. People know, in an uncertain way, striking or sensational facts that have lately appeared in print, facts appealing to the sense of wonder or awakening the imagination, but of the bases of such facts they know very little—sometimes nothing at all.

Would you believe that I have known educated people who supposed that the phases of the moon, i. e., the different shapes which its visible portion assumes at different times of the month, such as "crescent moon," "half moon," "gibbous moon," etc., were caused by the shadow of the earth concealing a part of the moon? Very recently an educated man who believed that such was really the teaching of astronomers, sent me a diagram to prove that they couldn't be right! Lucky man—though he didn't know it—his natural logic had rescued him from his ignorance! But he taught him what wasn't so? Surely no school did it, at least purposely. But a school might, all the same have been responsible for it under the present system of neglect.

Under any proper system of teaching geography one must begin with astronomy.
The earth is an astronomical body. Only when it is treated as such can its real significance be understood. It is one of the greatest glories of the human intellect that it has succeeded in establishing the character and the relations of the earth as an astronomical body, as a member together with a number of other planets, of a family, or group, of subsidiary globes, originating from,

McCormick-Deering Two-Row

One man on a McCormick Deering Two Row will do as much work as two men with single row cultivators. If it is a rainy year and you have to cultivate between showers you get just twice as much done with a two row in the same length of time.

Foot Levers Give Easy Control. There are four levers which give individual control of each wheel. Also the gears may be raised or lowered in pairs making quick turns possible at the end of the field.

Two Styles of Arch. The best feature ever put on a cultivator. The cross arch construction should be used if you use a two row planter or tiller. Crops planted or listed a row at a time are not always parallel and each gang must follow its own row. In this case the straight arch or plain arch is used.
